The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 5 year(s). The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less.
You may not be able to sell your product easily or you may have to sell at a price that significantly impacts on how much you get back.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as 6 out of 7, which is the second highest risk class. This classification rates the potential losses from future performance at a high level, and poor market conditions could impact the value of your investment. It also includes the risk that PMC as the insurer defaults. Any other risks materially relevant to the PRIIP not included in the summary risk indicator are described in the PMC Description of Funds document.

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

The value of the fund may be affected by risks not in the SRI: failure of a counterparty, custodian or issuer; inability to sell holdings; trends in interest rates/inflation.

Investment Performance information

The main factors likely to affect your future returns are as follows: market sentiment, economic conditions, changes in interest rates, inflation rates, government policies and other developments in the laws and regulations of countries in which investment may be made. For further details of the risk factors which may impact the performance of the fund please refer to the Description of Funds (https://www.lgim.com/landg-assets/lgim/_document-library/capabilities/description-of-funds.pdf/).

The fund aims to replicate the performance of the index as stated in the fund objective section.

What could affect my return positively?

Higher returns can be expected in an environment where interest rates or bond yields are falling as investors are more confident in an issuers ability to meet its debt obligations.

What could affect my return negatively?

Lower returns can be expected in an environment where interest rates or bond yields are rising. The value of fixed interest securities which pay nominal coupons and/or capital payments may be eroded by the effects of inflation. The whole of this Fund, or a large part of it, invests in relatively few individual holdings. This means that a fall in the value of an individual holding can have a more significant impact on the overall performance of the Fund. There is a risk that an issuer could default on its obligations, which can negatively impact the fund's performance.

In extreme market conditions it may be difficult to realise assets held for a Fund and it may not be possible to redeem units at short notice. We may have to delay acting on your instructions to sell or the price at which you cancel the units may be lower than you anticipated. PMC seeks to mitigate counterparty risk wherever possible on behalf of its policyholders, however, in the event of the failure of a counterparty, custodian or issuer there is a residual risk of loss.
