Key Investor Information

This document provides you with key investor information about this fund. It is not marketing material. The information is required by law to help you understand the nature and the risks of investing in this fund. You are advised to read it so you can make an informed decision about whether to invest.

Objectives and Investment Policy

- The Sub-Fund is passively managed and seeks to provide capital growth over the longer term and aims to achieve investment results that closely correspond, before fees and expenses, to the performance of the Goldman Sachs ActiveBeta® Paris-Aligned (PAB) Sustainable World Equity Index (the "Index").
- The Sub-Fund seeks to achieve its sustainable investment objective by tracking the performance of the Index. The Sub-Fund aims to achieve a reduction in greenhouse gas ("GHG") emissions which align with the longterm decarbonisation objectives and global warming target of the Paris Climate Agreement and the Index has been designed for this purpose.
- The Index is designed to deliver exposure to equity securities of large and mid capitalisation of Global issuers. The Index is constructed using the patented ActiveBeta® Portfolio Construction Methodology, which was developed to provide exposure to the "factors" (or characteristics) that are commonly tied to a stock's outperformance relative to market returns. Goldman Sachs may act in several roles in relation to the Index and the services provided to the Sub-Fund which may give rise to potential conflicts of interest.
- The Index aims to meet the minimum requirements to be an "EU Paris-Aligned Benchmark" as defined by the European Commission Delegated Regulation C(2020)4757.
- The Sub-Fund aims to replicate the index by holding all of its securities in a similar proportion to their weightings in the Index. These securities are stocks of companies with large and mid market capitalisation globally.
- The Sub-Fund may invest up to 10% of its assets in cash for liquidity purposes. The Sub-Fund may also use derivative instruments to help manage risks. A derivative instrument is a contract between two or more parties whose value depends on the rise and fall of other underlying assets.
- Shares in the Sub-Fund may be redeemed daily on demand.
- Income is rolled up into the value of your investment.
- The Sub-Fund currency is USD. The share class currency is USD.
- In normal circumstances, only authorised participants (e.g. select financial institutions) may deal in shares (or interests in shares) directly with the Sub-Fund. Other investors can deal in shares (or interests in shares) daily through an intermediary on stock exchange(s) on which the shares are traded.
- For full investment objective and policy details see the Prospectus.

Risk and Reward Profile

Lower risk — Potentially lower reward

Higher risk — Potentially higher reward

1	2	3	4	5	6	7

This risk profile is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Sub-Fund. The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may change over time. The lowest category does not mean risk free. It is possible that a sub-fund stated to have a lower risk profile may in fact fall in value more than a sub-fund with a higher risk profile.

The Sub-Fund is in category 5 as it mostly invests in shares and similar instruments which typically experience higher levels of price fluctuations than fixed income securities.

The capital is not guaranteed.

Other Material Risks:

- Market risk - the value of assets in the Sub-Fund is typically dictated by a number of factors, including the confidence levels of the market in which they are traded.
- Operational risk - material losses to the Sub-Fund may arise as a result of human error, system and/or process failures, inadequate procedures or controls.
- Liquidity risk - the Sub-Fund may not always find another party willing to purchase an asset that the Sub-Fund wants to sell which could impact the Sub-Fund's ability to meet redemption requests on demand.
- Exchange rate risk - changes in exchange rates may reduce or increase the returns an investor might expect to receive independent of the performance of such assets. Hedging of this risk may not be fully effective and may increase other risks (e.g. derivative risk).
- Custodian risk - insolvency, breaches of duty of care or misconduct of a custodian or sub-custodian responsible for the safekeeping of the Sub-Fund's assets can result in loss to the Sub-Fund.
- Derivatives risk - derivative instruments are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the underlying asset that they are based on. Certain derivatives may result in losses greater than the amount originally invested.
- Counterparty risk - a party that the Sub-Fund transacts with may fail to meet its obligations which could cause losses.
- Sustainability risk - an environmental, social or governance event or condition that could cause the value of the portfolio to go down. Examples of sustainability risks include physical environmental risks, climate change transition risks, supply chain disruptions, improper labour practices, lack of board diversity and corruption.
- Index tracking error risk - the performance of the Sub-Fund may not generally follow and may be very different from the performance of the Index. The anticipated tracking error has been calculated using historical data and therefore may not capture all factors that will impact a Sub-Fund's actual performance against its reference index.
- Equity Securities Risk - The value of equity securities varies in response to many factors, including those specific to an issuer or industry. The value of an issuer's stock can also be adversely affected by changes in financial markets generally. In addition, certain options and other equity-related instruments may be subject to additional risks, including liquidity risk, counterparty credit risk, legal risk and operations risk.
- For more detailed information on the risks associated with an investment in the Sub-Fund, please refer to the section in the Prospectus entitled "Risk Considerations" and discuss with your professional advisers.
