abrdn Future Raw Materials UCITS ETF

This is a marketing communication. Please refer to the Prospectus of the UCITS/Information document and the Key Investor Information Document (KIID) or Key Information Document (KID) as applicable before making any final investment decisions.

30 September 2026

Objective

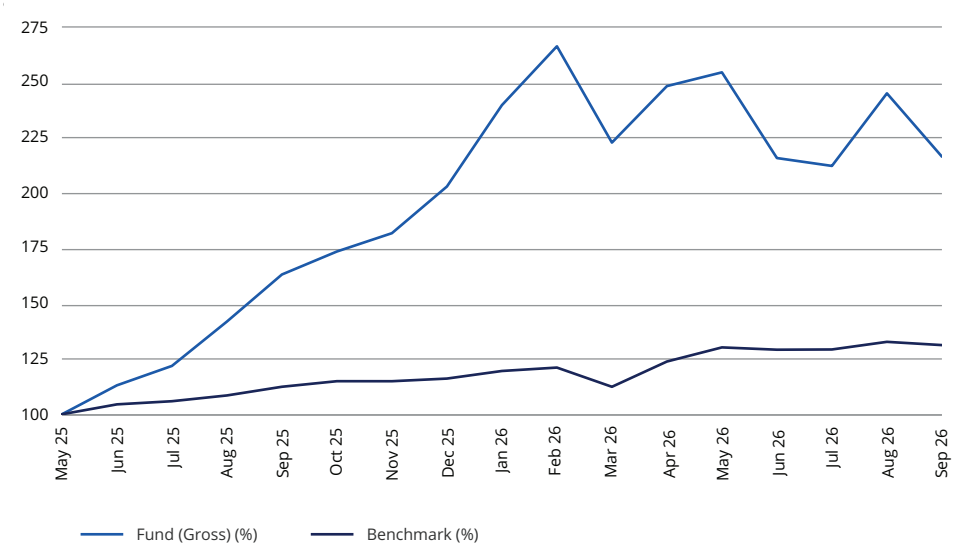

To generate growth over the long-term (5 years or more) by investing primarily in companies with alignment to the Future Raw Materials Theme (as defined below).

Performance Comparator: for comparison purposes, investors can compare the Fund's long-term performance to the MSCI ACWI Index Net Total Return (USD) as indicative of the performance of the Future Raw Materials Theme against global equities. The Fund does not aim to outperform this index and it is not used for portfolio construction or risk management purposes.

Investment policy

- The Fund invest at least 70% in equities and Equity Related Securities of companies of all sizes listed on global stock exchanges including Emerging Markets, with alignment to the Future Raw Materials Theme.
- The "Future Raw Materials Theme" can be defined as companies having a minimum of 50% of their current revenue linked to the extraction and processing of Future Raw Materials (as defined below).
- Provided that the 50% threshold is met, these companies aligned with the Future Raw Materials Theme may also be involved in activities that may not align with the Future Raw Materials Theme. Companies which meeting the 50% threshold above are referred to herein as "Theme Aligned Investments".
- The Investment Manager will identify a short list of strategic minerals (which may include, but are not limited to, copper, nickel, lithium, aluminium and rare earth minerals) whose demand is expected to increase due to their use in technologies that underpin economic changes and developments (the "Future Raw Materials"). Such shortlist will change as technological developments emerge and evolve which means that the use and supply of certain minerals varies. Details of the components of the short list will be available on request from the Investment Manager.
- In addition to its investment in Theme Aligned Investments, the Fund may, for liquidity and diversification purposes, invest up to 30% of the Fund's Net Asset Value in companies which are not Theme Aligned Investments but which do have exposure to Future Raw Materials. Such companies are companies that do not currently meet the minimum 50% revenue alignment threshold of the Future Raw Materials Theme referred to above, however, such companies must have a minimum of 20% of either current or forecasted revenue linked to Future Raw Materials. If forecast revenue is used, the expectation is that the company's current revenue linked with Future Raw Materials will exceed this 20% minimum within 18 months.
- The Fund may invest up to 30% in Mainland China equity and Equity Related Securities through the ShanghaiHong Kong and ShenzhenHong Kong Stock Connect programme.
- The Fund may also invest up to 20% in companies with Variable Interest Entity structures.
- The Fund may invest up to 10% in other funds (including those managed by abrdn), moneymarket instruments and cash for liquidity management.

Key risks

(a) The value of investments and the income from them can fall and investors may get back less than the amount invested.
(b) The fund invests in equity and equity related securities. These are sensitive to variations in the stock markets which can be volatile and change substantially in short periods of time.
(c) A concentrated portfolio may be more volatile and less liquid than a more broadly diversified one. The fund's investments are concentrated in a particular country or sector, or closely related group of industries or sectors.
(d) The fund invests in emerging market equities

Management process

- The Fund is actively managed.
- The Investment Manager actively identifies a short list of key minerals (which may include, but are not limited to, copper, nickel, lithium, aluminium and rare earth minerals) which it classifies as Future Raw Materials, through a combination of internal research (such as financial analysis and company engagement at both stock and sector level) and external research and assessment (such as third-party research papers on the theme and thematic taxonomies), upon which Fund investments are focused. Whilst the Investment Manager cannot reasonably identify the end use of the minerals that investee companies extract and process, the mineral selection is based on the considered long-term demand of their use in technologies (for example space satellites, data transmission networks, solar panels and wind turbines, electric batteries and wiring) in conjunction with the scarcity of supply to meet this demand. The short list of minerals is defined with a long-term view but will be reviewed at least annually.
- The initial investment universe is established using statistical analysis to identify Theme Aligned Investments. The Investment Manager may then supplement the initial universe with companies that have a minimum of 20% of current or forecasted revenue linked to Future Raw Materials to finalise the investment universe.
- The portfolio is then constructed from this universe, using a quantitative model to select companies and assign position weights based on the Investment Manager's proprietary scoring system, which looks to maximise the weightings of companies with the most favourable elements of valuation, profitability, and earning and price momentum, whilst taking into account the requirements in terms of diversification (across stock and mineral), and liquidity.
- No benchmark is used for portfolio construction or as a basis for setting risk constraints in the management of the Fund.

(d) The fund invests in emerging market equities and / or bonds. Investing in emerging markets involves a greater risk of loss than investing in more developed markets due to, among other factors, greater political, tax, economic, foreign exchange, liquidity and regulatory risks.
(e) The shares of small and mid-cap companies may be less liquid and more volatile than those of larger companies
(f) The fund may invest in companies with Variable Interest Entity (VIE) structures in order to gain exposure to industries with foreign ownership restrictions. There is a risk that investments in these structures may be adversely affected by changes in the legal and regulatory framework.
(g) Investing in China A shares involves special considerations and risks, including greater price volatility, a less developed regulatory and legal framework, exchange rate risk/controls, settlement, tax, quota, liquidity and regulatory risks.
(h) The use of derivatives carries the risk of reduced liquidity, substantial loss and increased volatility in adverse market conditions, such as a failure amongst market participants. The use of derivatives may result in the fund being leveraged (where market exposure and thus the potential for loss by the fund exceeds the amount it has invested) and in these market conditions the effect of leverage will be to magnify losses.
