Global X S&P 500® Quarterly Buffer UCITS ETF (the "Fund"), A sub-fund of Global X ETFs ICAV (the "ICAV")

USD Accumulating Share Class, IE000LSRKCB4

The Fund is managed by Global X Management Company (Europe) Limited (the "Manager").

Objectives and Investment Policy

Type: This product is a UCITS fund.

Term: This is an Open Ended Fund.

For Accumulating Shares, income will be automatically reinvested in the Fund and reflected in the NAV per share.The Fund's investment objective is to provide investment results that closely correspond, before fees and expenses, generally to the price and yield performance of the CBOE S&P 500® 15% WHT Quarterly 5% Buffer Protect Index (the "Index"). The Index seeks to provide similar returns to the S&P 500® Index (the "Reference Index"), with lower volatility and downside risks, in most market environments except for when the U.S. equity market is rallying.

The Fund is passively managed. The Fund will seek to replicate the performance of the Index by investing primarily in a basket of global equity securities and equity related securities (the "Basket") and will enter into an unfunded swap agreement with approved counterparties governed by the International Swaps and Derivatives Association to exchange the performance/return of the Basket for the return of the Index minus any associated fees (the "Swap").

The Index is designed to track the returns of an investment in the Reference Index via a portfolio of equities over a period of approximately a calendar quarter (the "investment period") while also seeking to provide downside protection against declines in value of 5% (the "buffer") in the Reference Index.

The buffer provided by the Index is constructed via a put spread whereby the Index purchases a put option on the Reference Index at a higher strike price (at-the-money) and sells a put option on the Reference Index at a lower strike price (5% out-the-money). The put spread seeks to protect against a decline in the Reference Index, but only to the extent of the difference between the strike prices of the put option purchased and the put option sold. There will be a cost paid for these options, the premium. The premium paid for the purchased put option will be more than the premium received for the sold put option.

In order to cover the cost of the put spread that facilitates the buffer, a call option on the Reference Index is sold, or written, by the Index in exchange for receipt of a premium by the Index that matches the cost of the put spread. While writing the call options reduces the cost of the provision of the buffer, it does operate to limit the Index's participation in the rise of the value of the Reference Index beyond the exercise price of the written call option, which acts as a cap on the potential increase in the value of the Index.

The full buffer and cap levels may only be realised by investors who hold shares of the Fund at the outset of the investment period and continue to hold them until the conclusion of the investment period. Investors that purchase shares after the investment period has begun or sell shares prior to the investment period's conclusion may experience investment returns very different from those that the Fund seeks to provide as the NAV of the fund moves during the period against the static buffer and cap.

Where it is not possible or practicable for the Fund to invest in swaps, the Fund may also gain exposure to the Index through investment in other FDI such as options and futures, through investment in units of other collective investment schemes, and/or through investment in a portfolio of equity securities that, as far as possible and practicable, consists of the component securities of the Index. The Fund's base currency is USD.

Investors can buy and sell shares of the Fund on each business day. Business day means a day on which the New York Stock Exchange and London Stock Exchange are open for normal business.

For more information about the investment policy and strategy of the Fund, please refer to the sections entitled "Investment Objective" and "Investment Policy" in the Fund's Supplement.
