Tracking Error

Each of the Funds listed in the table employs a “passive” investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Some of the Funds attempt to fully replicate the index by holding all of the component securities, in approximately the same proportion as their weighting in the index. Other Funds instead use an index sampling process, holding a representative sample of securities which approximates the full index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics. The table below excludes actively-managed funds and any funds that liquidated during the year.

Tracking error measures the volatility of the return difference between each Fund and its relevant index. It is calculated as the standard deviation of the tracking difference between the Fund and the index (gross of fees for the trailing 36-month period, or since the Fund’s inception if it does not have 36 months of performance history). Realised tracking error may vary from the anticipated tracking error, depending on a range of circumstances. These include transaction costs, securities lending income and withholding tax differences. The anticipated tracking error and realised tracking error are not expected to vary significantly under normal circumstances.

The Realised Tracking Error excludes adjustments for swing pricing.

For the period ended 31 December 2025, the following tracking error disclosed for each Fund is based on an accumulation shares class that is in the same currency as the Fund's base currency:

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Developed Asia Pacific All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Asia Pacific All Cap Choice Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in developed markets of the Asia Pacific region, including Japan.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Japan – representing more than half the index – contributed most to results. South Korea and Australia also were top contributors. New Zealand, which carries only a minimal weighting, was the sole market to post a negative return.
- From a sector standpoint, every industry delivered positive returns. The strongest contributors were telecommunications, industrials, technology and financials.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard ESG Emerging Markets All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Emerging Markets All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging All Cap Choice Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in emerging markets around the world.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy. The Federal Reserve lowered rates three times during the period, while the Bank of England cut rates twice.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 12.07% for the period.
- Taiwan and China, the markets with the largest weightings in the index, contributed the most to its return. South Africa was another large contributor.
- India, the third-largest market in the index, detracted the most by far. Saudi Arabia and the Philippines also detracted.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Technology, financials and basic materials were the top contributors; technology, the largest sector in the index, accounted for most of the index's return. Telecommunications, the only sector that produced a negative return, detracted.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard ESG Global All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Global All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Global All Cap Choice Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in markets around the world.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy. The Federal Reserve lowered rates three times during the period, while the Bank of England cut rates twice.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 11.10% for the period. This index, the FTSE Global All Cap Choice Index, is constructed from the FTSE Global All Cap Index. The parent index is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by its sponsor, which is independent of Vanguard.
- Strong overall performance by the US, the largest market in the index, contributed most to returns. Taiwan, Japan and Korea were also strong contributors. Brazil and India were the biggest detractors.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors produced positive returns. The largest sector, technology, contributed the most to the index's return, followed by financials and health care. Consumer staples, the only sector to produce a negative return, was also the sole detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE 250 UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE 250 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE 250 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of mid-capitalised companies of the United Kingdom.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 5.67% for the period.
- The index, which represents mid-capitalisation companies in the UK market, generally performed well, with seven of the 11 industry sectors posting positive returns. Financials – with both the largest weighting and highest return of all the sectors – contributed the most to the index's return.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE All-World UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the FTSE All-World Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in developed and emerging markets.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy. The Federal Reserve lowered rates three times during the period, while the Bank of England cut rates twice.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 11.20% for the period.
- Most markets represented in the index gained ground. The United States, which represents more than half of the index, and Japan, the next largest market, helped performance the most.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Technology, financials and health care helped performance the most. Consumer staples detracted.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index, a free-float-adjusted market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of companies, excluding real estate trusts, in developed and emerging markets that pay dividends that are generally higher than average.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 11.49% for the period.
- All but one sector (consumer staples) posted positive returns, with double-digit gains in basic materials, financials, health care, telecommunications and industrials. With almost a 30% weight in the index, financials made the most impact to the overall return.
- Most markets in the index posted gains, some in double digits. The United States, which represents roughly 40% of the index, returned more than 8%. The depreciating US dollar boosted returns in other markets.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe ex UK Index, a widely recognised market capitalisation-weighted index of stock market performance of European developed countries, excluding the United Kingdom, that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in that region.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 9.60% for the six months.
- Among individual markets, Switzerland, which accounted for nearly 20% of the benchmark, was the largest contributor to results. Other notable contributors included Spain, France, the Netherlands, Sweden and Italy. Denmark was the only detractor.
- By sector, financials contributed the most by far. Industrials and health care also added to performance. Consumer staples, real estate and telecommunications were modest detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE Developed World UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed World UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Index, a widely recognised benchmark of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in global developed markets.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy. The Federal Reserve lowered rates three times during the period, while the Bank of England cut rates twice.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 11.06% for the period.
- The United States, which represents more than two-thirds of the index, was by far the largest contributor to its return. Japan, Canada, South Korea and the United Kingdom were the other top contributors. Denmark detracted slightly.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Technology, financials and health care contributed the most to results. Consumer staples, the only sector to produce a negative return, was the sole detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging Index, a free-float market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in multiple emerging markets in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America and the Middle East.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy. The Federal Reserve lowered rates three times during the period, while the Bank of England cut rates twice.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 12.47% for the period.
- Taiwan, which made up more than 20% of the index, contributed the most to its return. China, which accounted for almost a third of the index, was also a significant contributor. India, Saudi Arabia and the Philippines detracted.
- Ten of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Technology, financials and basic materials contributed the most to the index's return. Telecommunications, the only sector that produced a negative return, detracted.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard FTSE North America UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE North America UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE North America Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-cap companies in the United States and Canada.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 10.74% for the period.
- Eight of the index's 11 industry sectors produced positive returns. Technology – with both the largest weighting and the highest return of all the sectors – contributed the most to the index's return. Health care and financials were also top contributors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard Germany All Cap UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited.

Investment Objective

Vanguard Germany All Cap UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Germany All Cap Index, a free-float-adjusted market capitalisation-weighted index composed of large-, mid- and small-cap stocks of companies located in Germany, and is derived from the broader FTSE Global Equity Index Series.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 1.38% for the period.
- Six of the index's 11 industry sectors produced positive returns. Financials, the largest sector in the index, contributed most to its return. Technology was the biggest detractor.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

1 Since-inception returns: 17 July 2018.

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Standard & Poor's 500 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of US stock market performance that is composed of the stocks of large US companies.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For the six months ended 31 December 2025, global financial markets rose, buoyed by optimism surrounding artificial intelligence, robust corporate earnings and more dovish monetary policy. The Federal Reserve lowered rates three times during the period, while the Bank of England cut rates twice.
- Global stocks returned 11.19% for the six-month period, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index in US dollars.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 10.79% for the six months.
- Nine of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Information technology, the largest sector by weight, added the most to results. Communication services, health care and consumer discretionary also were leading contributors. Consumer staples and real estate were the sole detractors.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

1 The return of the S&P 500 UCITS ETF is adjusted by 15% for the withholding tax on dividends paid by US securities. The return of the S&P 500 Index is adjusted by 30%.

2 Since-inception returns: USD Accumulating, 14 May 2019.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at https://global.vanguard.com. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.
