Investment objective

The Lyxor U.S. Treasury Bond Future Daily (-1x) Inverse UCITS ETF is a UCITS compliant exchange traded fund that aims to track the benchmark index Solactive US Treasury Bond Futures Daily (-1x) Inverse Index. The Solactive US Treasury Bond Future Daily (-1x) Inverse Index is a strategy, which is linked to the performance of the U.S. Treasury Bond Future. The strategy reflects a daily investment with a daily short position in the U.S. Treasury Bond Future plus interest, based on the Federal Funds Effective Rate (=money market interest rate), on any capital that is not tied up. The U.S. Treasury Bond Future, colloquially known as '30Y US Treasury Future', refers to bonds which are issued by the United States of America with a maturity of at least 15 and at most 25 years. It works as follows: The strategy will fall (rise), if interest rates for long term US-bonds will fall (rise). Please note that for holding periods of more than one day, the performance of the short index does not match the inverse performance of the base index due to the daily calculation basis. The starting level of the index was set at 100 index points on 1 September 2015.

Risk Factors

It is important for potential investors to evaluate the risks described below and in the fund prospectus which can be found on www.lyxoretf.com
CAPITAL AT RISK: ETFs are tracking instruments: Their risk profile is similar to a direct investment in the Underlying Index. Investors' capital is fully at risk and investors may not get back the amount originally invested.
REPLICATION RISK: The fund objectives might not be reached due to unexpected events on the underlying markets which will impact the index calculation and the efficient fund replication.
COUNTERPARTY RISK: Investors are exposed to risks resulting from the use of an OTC Swap with Barclays Bank Germany. In-line with UCITS guidelines, the exposure to Societe Generale cannot exceed 10% of the total fund assets. Physically replicated ETFs may have counterparty risk resulting from the use of a Securities Lending Programme.
UNDERLYING RISK: The Underlying Index of a Lyxor ETF may be complex and volatile. When investing in commodities, the Underlying Index is calculated with reference to commodity futures contracts exposing the investor to a liquidity risk linked to costs such as cost of carry and transportation. ETFs exposed to Emerging Markets carry a greater risk of potential loss than investment in Developed Markets as they are exposed to a wide range of unpredictable Emerging Market risks.
CURRENCY RISK: ETFs may be exposed to currency risk if the ETF is denominated in a currency different to that of the Underlying Index they are tracking. This means that exchange rate fluctuations could have a negative or positive effect on returns.
LIQUIDITY RISK: Liquidity is provided by registered market-makers on the respective stock exchange where the ETF is listed, including Societe Generale. On-exchange liquidity may be limited as a result of a suspension in the underlying market represented by the Underlying Index tracked by the ETF; a failure in the systems of one of the relevant stock exchanges, Societe Generale or other market-maker systems; or an abnormal trading situation or event.
